*"Oh Lord,
let us never be afraid of a new idea or unreceptive to a new thought.*

*"Lest we pull down
the shades of our mind and exclude Thy holy light.*

*When confronted by mystery, help us to remember that we do not have to explain
all we know or understand all we believe.*

*"But give us the grace
of humility and the spirit of the open mind, the courage to persist in the face of difficulties,
and a steady confidence in the power of truth."*

FALL

Orientation Week . . .

The '79-80 Fall Term Orientation Week began as usual; dorms opened on Saturday, September 15 at 8:00 A.M., and that same day an informal fellowship held, so the students and faculty could get acquainted with each other. Sunday morning began with a pancake breakfast for all students and their parents in the cafe. Later in the day there were games in the quad and a sandwich supper, followed by a singspiration in the BG rugroom. The evening was consummated with hall devotions.

Monday was filled with academic advising, testing, general and small group sessions, and bike and foot tours of the campus and general Eugene area. The evening ended with "Come Get Acquainted" fun, games, singing, and devotions at Marian.

On Tuesday, academic advising continued while several workshops got underway. These were followed by softball, volleyball, basketball, and other games. The night concluded with a movie and popcorn at the Rec Room in BG.

The rest of the week was characterized by more academic advising, a picnic at Jasper Park, long reservation maze lines, a variety show featuring the 1979-80 Pilgrimage, make your own Sundae night in the Caf, Brother-Sister Hall Devotions, and an ASB Senator, Committee Chairperson, and RA retreat at Jasper Park.

After dinner, many students enjoyed the scenery.

All Campus Retreat

The 1979 All Campus Retreat was held in Turner, Oregon, on October 3 and 4. Pastor Jim Buckely of Englewood Christian Church expounded on the theme of "Body Building." Activities included Family Group Sessions, a general student body meeting, three movies, a bonfire, several messages, and lots of free time and recreation.

Missions Week October 22-24

Jokes circulated about a "paradox" (pair of docs?) on campus when we invited Dr. Charles H. Kraft from School of World Missions at Fuller Theological Seminary and his wife Dr. Margaret Kraft from Bida College to be our guests for Missions Week. Dr. Charles Kraft is professor of Anthropology, and his wife linguistics. They both shared from their experience in Africa, and each one of us was challenged to think of missions across the world in new and exciting ways. The Krafts participated in Chapel, class sessions, dorm and all campus devotions, and in a very informative panel discussion.

CRUSADER VOLLEYBALL

The 1979-80 Crusader Volleyball Team worked together for a strong, respectable season. Led by Coach Jeanette McHarness, each gal felt that she systematically and continually improved as the season progressed. The team was comprised of: (opposite page, top right, from back left) Coach McHarness, Julie DeWitt, Bonnie Crawford, Robin Duhler, Grace Fleunor, and stat girl Marianne Nelson. From front left: Barbara Armstrong, Kathy Hammel, Karen George, Mindy Johns, and Terrie Cato.

These are the men of Chapman Hall; they stand tough, and they stand tall, with their Lord they'll never fall. And in their memories dear to their hearts will, Chapman, Chapman, sure to shine all of the time.

CHILDERS

Senior Randy Saunders in the stands.

In a year of worldwide changes one thing remained the same; dorm life. Comments by Childers men through the school year include "Where's Xavier? The meeting's started!", "schwannstucker", "Baker's moved?", "Number three stall is out of order again?", "Should we go bowling?" "Ten dollar house dues?" "Rob's bunny's been kidnapped!" "Don't be a baby!" "Great Christmas party, Larry", "G. D." "Koala Bear Kevin", "Who put the vase-line on my doorknob?" "Dogpile on Webster!" and so.

Through all the fun, fellowship, turmoil, and passing of time, the realization that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the Living God, unified Childers Hall in Christian love.

HAMBY

Confined to the yellow house on 11th were 13 very busy, yet very happy women. Some had their fingers in student government, some in Pilgrimage, others were committee chairmen, others were graders, some played volleyball, some worked in the cafe, others in the library, and others in the business office, and all of them had mass quantities of schoolwork.

Their responsibilities, however, did not keep them from finding time for fun: a great Christmas party, a backyard barbecue, MASH, (every night), a few house meetings, Woodyard, kidnappings, firemen at midnight, and even the grand opening of their very own orphanage.

Although the end of the year saw these 13 friends move to many different places, the memories and growth they shared (along with the fact that they are all saved, Saved, saved, Saved . . .) will always bind them together in a very special way.

HENDRICKS

"There are friends who pretend to be friends, but there is a friend who sticks closer than a brother." (Prov. 18:24) Many people have questioned: "What is Hendricks Hall?" Hendricks Hall is:

- diverse and individualistic
- 16 independent spirits
- wheat thin parties
- dieting
- volleyball champs and awesome football players
- talented (Pilgrimage, volleyball team, talent troop.)
- spontaneous singing
- a constantly ringing pay-phone (Dale, Tracy!)
- an engaged R.A.
- and Gerbunbutz

Hendricks may have been the smallest hall, but it was full of love and concern for each other, united in our love for the Lord.

HOVEN

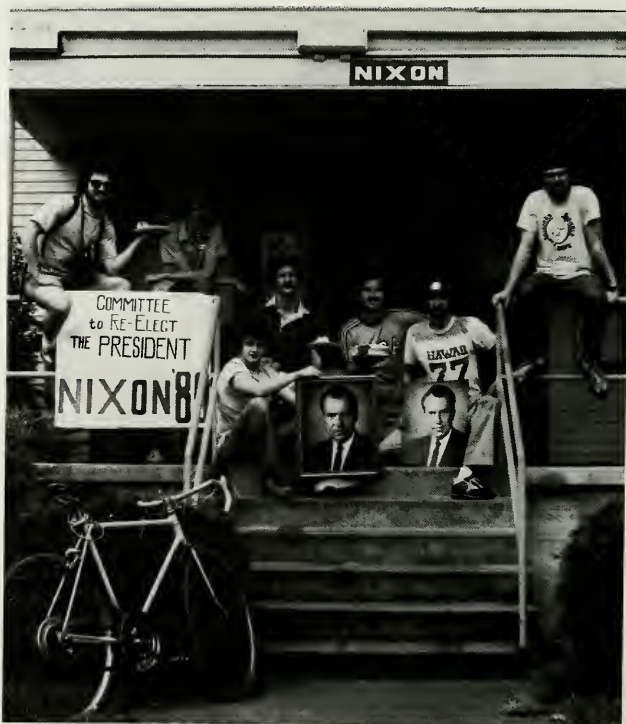

The '79-80 academic year provided a wealth of experiences and opportunities for each Hovenite. With interests ranging from sports to political activism (!), the year was anything but blase. Career goals included photography, the Pastorate, architecture, counseling, coaching, and more. As time passes and new school years come and go, may God continue to bless and smile upon each '79-80 member of Hoven "Nixon" House.

KELLUMS

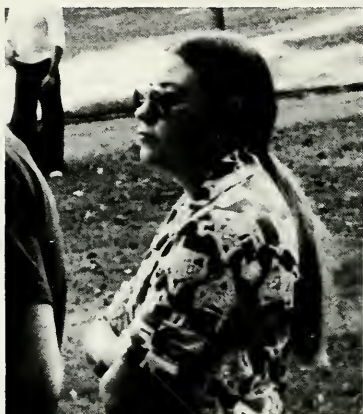

Randy Winter inhales his meal.

Although very small, Kellums House once again enjoyed a dynamic, growth oriented year, dedicated to the ever-present and all pervading goal of becoming like and learning about our God and Father through the grace and strength of His Son Jesus Christ. Members (starting at back, left) Tim McBride, Randy Winter, Bob Hanna, and Bob Cornwall were involved in areas such as student government, Pilgrimage, Library Desk Work, and some even found the time to form a sort of fly-by-night band with a few of their outside friends.

MOON

From various rooms laughter, tears, and emotional voices could be heard. Sharing was a key element in joining and keeping Moon Hall together as a unit.

Habits possessed the hall; for sneaking Moonbeams were often caught taking off to the food culprit 7-11, marching the hall in casual wear, helping those in need, praying together, or just portraying the characteristic of sheer craziness.

Bound within each "Moonbeam" shined forth the desire to grow and serve the Lord. Individuals sought to gain a strong relationship with Jesus; one that could be viewed as the focus of their existence.

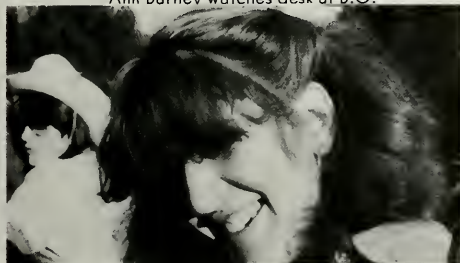

The close of the year showed positive outcomes in each gal, and the love sent with the summer vacation established a bond, keeping the "Moonies" together in genuine friendships.

Forever ingrained in the minds of the "Warner Brothers" in the '79-80 school year were memories such as: long house meetings, excessive greenslips, group prayer, a spaghetti feed that never materialized, the movie Jesus, a wet Silver Creek Falls, mad dashes to Squire Shop sales, late night Pizza, and a general reputation for being a bit exclusive at times.

Warner interests were diverse. At any given moment you might see a Warner Brother working in the cafe, studying, lifting weights, playing basketball, training for a marathon, working in a local church, working on the yearbook, traveling with the Pep Band, rehearsing in the Talent Troop, or just plain goofing around. Though they were individuals, these Warner Men, they were drawn, by the bond of love for one another in Christ, into a warm, cohesive, and function group.

Bruce Shelby charges down the court.

WELL

Wells Hall, alias Wells Angels, strutted into the cafe one nite, fantasizing themselves to be the "cool Well's Angels Motorcycle Gang"; then three months later in actuality they floated reverantly into the cafe as the "Convent von Wells." There's no room for boredom in Well's Hall. The year was filled with a trip to the beach for early morning fireside devotions, the second annual Well's Hall Sock Hop, movies and pizza, a fund raising slave sale, and many late night devotions.

WOODYARD

"It only takes a spark to get a fire going."

This year Woodyard Hall was blazing, not only for the Lord but with love for each other.

We started the year off by teaming with Childers to compile a 2 and 4 record in Intramural football, capping off the season with a 12-0 toilet bowl victory over Warner-Rice.

Then on November 19, the first annual Woodyard experience, an evening of fun and fellowship at the Spaghetti Warehouse.

As winter rolled around we played and prayed, stopping long enough to compile a 4-2 record in Intramural basketball, including a disputed win over defending champion Warner Hall.

Spring came, and with it flowers, sunshine, and a house party to the coast, where we learned about Bible, baseball, God, and a whole lot of Professor Powell's crazy songs. Some of the guys played baseball, others fell in love, and some, just a few, studied.

September to June seems so long yet so short. In that time we of Woodyard Hall have laughed and cried through some of the best and worst times. Yet 1979-80 will forever live in our hearts as the year of "Amix", "Cop", "Bok", "Paul", "Lef", "Chaunch", "Cool", "Fort", "Hamid", "Rice", "Zim", "Hayes", "Zumie", "Zeke", "Ake", "Udi", "Bud", "Mark," Guy (our hall friend), and Hanby, our sister Hall.

Folks, we'll se ya agoin in Canan's land.

WRIGHT

Wright Hall, what can be said to describe it? This group of guys is creative, witty, inventive — a real set of initiators, especially of freshmen who find themselves engaged. There's rarely a mellow moment. Every person contributes to the total personality of the brick and tile that is ours. Traditional trade marks of Wright Hall are lack of organization, due to every person's strong sense of independence; never having everyone at anything; for the same reason, excessive green slip accumulations, loud music of all shapes and colors, regular visits from Pop, showers that eventually become botanical gardens, and amazing sense of responsibility and how to avoid it; and finally and ultimately, a growing sense of what it means to be a Christian, the bond in which we found ourselves brothers. May God continue to bless the members of Wright Hall.

HOUSEPARENTS

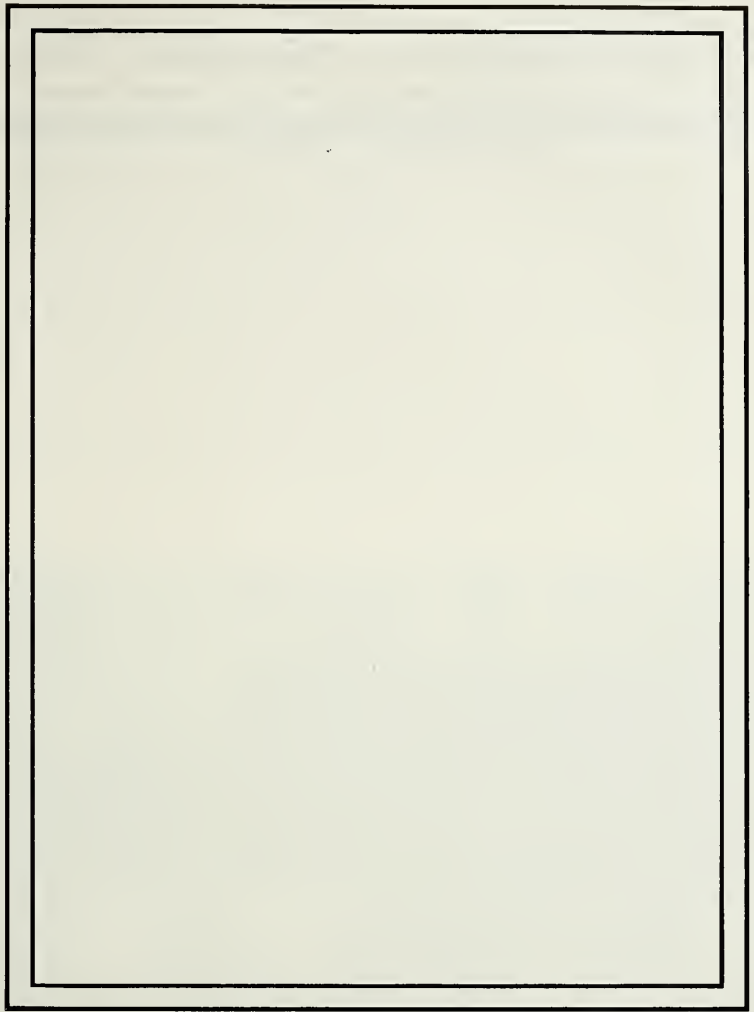

Acting as dorm parents for Marian Hall for the third straight year (which is almost a record) were Mr. and Mrs. Jack and Glenda Pinkely, along with their dog, Malatchka. "Mom" and "Pop," as they are called by the guys, are responsible for everything from general maintenance to playing nurse for ailing men, as well as helping organize desk work and calling President's meetings. Most of the men of Marian would agree that together they are doing a commendable job; we look with anticipation towards each additional year they will share with us.

Mrs. Mabel "Mom" Decker is dorm mother for Burke Griffeth Dorm. Her duties include making sure communication is well among the girls, doling out keys, handing out aspirin, and making sure the place is locked securely each night (so the "bed bugs" won't bite). Mom loves her work, because she loves the girls; she hopes to work with them for several more years.

WINTER

Resident Assistant . . . Counselor, Pastor, Servant.

The position of resident assistant is one of counselor, servant, pastor. While the RA is a member of the staff and is responsible and accountable to the dean of students, his/her duties go beyond the defined areas of accountability. Often, an RA is challenged, stretched, misunderstood, and used; and their time is not their own. It is a demanding, but rewarding ministry.

Being an RA affects all areas of one's life. As persons, they must strive to maintain a good devotional and prayer life augmented with regular Bible study, participate in hall activities and programs, and be actively involved in a local church. As staff members, they must attend weekly staff meetings with the dean of students, submit yearly personal goals and objectives, be a spiritual leader in the hall with servanthood a goal in all relationships, and be sensitive to the physical, psychological, spiritual, and emotional needs of every individual in the hall. Finally as students they must maintain a GPA of at least 2.5 and remain in good academic and financial standing with the college, in addition to participating in several workshops and conferences pertinent to their position.

RA's have a tremendous load to carry, and it seems one would grow weary at times under the strain of it all. But, as Kathy Carr, Dean of Students, says: "You can make it what you want; you will contribute more because of who you are than what you do."

... Urbana '79 ... A Call to Hear And Obey.

Urbana '79 (Dec. 26-Jan. 1) was held in Urbana-Champaign, Illinois, at the University of Illinois campus. It was put on by InterVarsity. Several NCC students enjoyed the privilege of traveling to this smorgasborg of missionary endeavorment.

Special guests at Urbana '79 included Elizabeth Elliott, who addressed the question of how we can hear God's voice and then be willing to be a witness for Him; Luis Palau, who spoke on evangelism and personal responsibility; Bernie Smith, songleader; Billy Graham, who spoke on personal commitment and being willing to give up all for Christ's cause; and the Reverend R. W. Stotts (author of Basic Christianity and several commentaries, who explored the apologetics of the mission field.

The purpose of Urbana is to stimulate interest in and commitment to the mission field. It is primarily geared toward college students, but people of all ages attend. One of its goals is to establish missions as a focal point of the church.

Although nearly 18,000 people attended the convention, opportunities for close fellowship were provided. In addition to the large group meetings in the stadium, the people were divided into smaller Bible Study groups, seminars, and group sessions. Each person also got to contribute early every morning to intimate devotions with roommates.

Team Wins League; Cox Named Coach of Year

For the 15th time in a row, Coach Cox guided the NCC Crusaders to a winning season. Aided by dynamic players, such as All-American Mike Peterson (top vote-getter for MVP and second leading scorer in the nation for the NLCAA), All-Leaguer Barry Bokn, and Slam-Dunker Al Tuley, the team won the PNCC crown for the 5th time in 7 years, ending the year with only one league loss and a season record of 19-8.

Mixed in with all the joy of having such a fine team and a tremendous season was a note of sadness: after 15 years of dedicated service, Coach Duane Cox has resigned. However, he will remain with the college, working in the Development Office, possibly in the area of recruiting. With him he will take precious memories: This year, for the seventh time, he was chosen PNCC Coach of the year, and in 15 years of coaching, he never had a losing season. But perhaps more lasting than these will be the memories of the relationships and bonds that were formed between him and the players in that time. It is regarded as general consensus by both alumni and returning students that his guidance and direction, both on and off the court, were invaluable.

"Renaissance" Pep Band

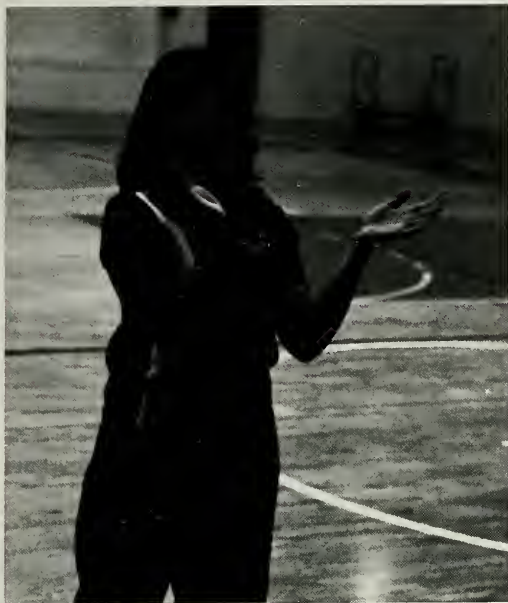

With its productions, including variety shows, a jazz concert, worship-services, volleyball and basketball entertainment, and its repertoire ranging from Classical to Big Band numbers, the '79-80 Pep Band was truly a "renaissance" group. Led by Professor Dennis Helsabeck, they began the year with playing at each home match/game for the volleyball and basketball squads, occasionally traveling to Portland and (somehow) found the time to sandwich a variety show into their schedule. Spring term they traveled to Seattle for a combination of work and play: Saturday afternoon was devoted to exploring downtown, while the evening was spent providing entertainment for a local youth service. On Sunday, after contributing to their host's (the Louvier's) home church worship service, they said goodbye and headed for home. The year was brought to a close with a final spring concert consisting of several jazz numbers and a special performance by Mrs. Root, Caryn Yoast, and Felicia Squires.

They Believe in Spirit, Spirit, Spirit

... as They Walk Life's Hiway.

The NCC Rally Squad did an outstanding job for the '79-80 sports season. With some of them cheering for both volleyball and basketball, they had their work cut out for them. Some landmarks of the season were trips to Portland, Seattle, and Vancouver, B.C., as well as their ever-famous "Kiss-a-Pig" contest.

SPRING

DEDICATION

During the past years, Dr. Lawrence Bixler has added a spirit of wisdom and strength to the campus. For his soul-penetrating challenges to students; for his enthusiasm; for his kindness and caring; for his wit and sense of humor; for his years of service to the school; for the Christian example he sets daily — the 1980 Crusader Staff wishes to dedicate this yearbook to Dr. Lawrence Bixler.

Spring Preview

The 1980 NCC "College Fair" was held on April 11 and 12. After the "livestock" had been entered on Friday afternoon, the previewers met in the chapel for a song service, special music, and inspiration. Immediately following was a "sideshow," which explored the various areas of concern on and around campus. The main attraction was a talent show held at First Christian Church; Tim Wells was the host. Before bedding down, the "animals" enjoyed hot bread and butter.

Saturday featured breakfast in the cafe, a meeting in the chapel to discuss financial aid, admission, missions, and other relevant subjects, a special music and song service led by Rob Martini, and a final meal in the cafe at noon.

'79-'80 Pilgrimage

Pilgrimage, directed by Guy Aydelott and Randy Hall, traveled and promoted NCC for its third year. And how was it? Well, one member of the group (who chose to remain anonymous) told us that: To ease the pain from breaking his toe while on the California tour, Bob stuffed sixty-four grapes into his mouth; that Cary would never be forgotten (because he left an article of clothing at every place they stopped!); Merry once gave the group a twenty minute break while performing "Jesus shall Reign"; Duane got to play "Solid Rock"; that Sarah "thought everything was so nice"; that Jan was into breaking beds; that Randy was their baby Lion; and that Pam was always there.

Tell It Like It Is

The second year of "Tell It Like It Is" talent troupe was fun, rewarding, loving, growing, joyful, and caring. Our main goal was to present Jesus Christ in a unique and powerful ministry.

The group consisted of six "wild and crazy people." The Lord blessed us with many gifts: a key to the Chapel and Prop Closet, lighting and sound equipment, a van, churches to go to, and ample amounts of encouragement and support from faculty and student body members.

One of the highlights of the year was our tour to Montana over spring break, which was an adventure in itself.

The group was not all fun and games. It took a lot of faith in Jesus Christ, work, time, and dedication. We have all grown because of the group. We give God the glory for what He has done.

Sports Banquet

The annual spring term sports banquet was held in May. Receiving special honors were: Volleyball — Bonnie Crawford, most improved player, and Kathy Hammel, most valuable player. Basketball — Mike Petersen, most valuable player, and Barry Bokn, most improved and most inspirational player.

In addition to the individuals honored above, everyone else was praised for their contribution to the corporate success of the two teams.

Recognition Day

Recognition Day, a day set aside every spring term, has a two fold purpose. First, those students who excelled in various areas are recognized. In addition to this verbal recognition, some are also given scholarships, such as the Kendall E. Burke award. Secondly, the day is also reserved as one to beautify and upgrade the NCC campus. Students, in early morning chapel, received their "assignments" for the day and then (hopefully) worked together throughout the day, serving the school in both word and deed.

Gary Shumster asks for more enthusiasm.

Mrs. Barnhart does her fair share.

Senior Chapel

Each year, chapel is led by the upcoming grads on the last Tuesday before classes end. This year, senior chapel featured special singing, devotions, and prayer.

GRADUATION

Commencement services for 1980 graduates were held June 1-June 3, 1980, at Eugene First Christian Church. Commencement Season included Baccalaureate Services, the Board of Trustees Annual Meeting, the Reception for Graduating Students and their parents, the Trustees Wives Luncheon, Commencement, and the Alumni Banquet.

A total of fifty-three degrees were awarded; twenty-two Associate of Science degrees, twenty-two Bachelor of Science degrees, and nine Bachelor of Arts degrees. May God bless them all as they leave Northwest Christian College prepared to serve their Lord.

Dear Students, Faculty, and Staff:

My special thanks to those who participated in the production of this book. While it would be impossible to mention all who aided in this tremendous task, I will attempt to recognize the majority of them. They are:

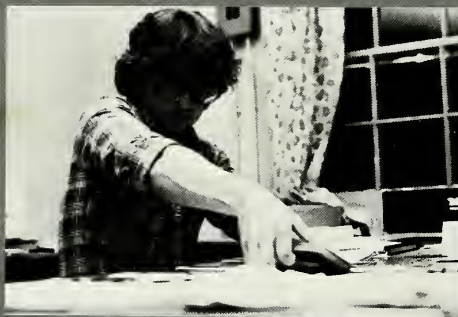

*Jon Baker
Mark Baltzley
Cliff Berger
Cindy Berger
Steve Berger
The Business Office*

*Kathy Carr
John Dalby
Diane D'agostino
The Development Office
Brent Ditton
Harold Dowling*

*Kim Emerson
Marianne Nelson
Professor Powell
Tim Wells
Jill Workman*

It is my hope that each person represented in this yearbook will remain close to you in the bond of Christ's spirit, and that you will hold in high regard the time we spent with one another.

*In Christ's friendship,
Carl Speck, editor*

Phase 1: Diligent Dedication.

Phase 2: Still hard at it.

Phase 3: Energy beginning to wane.

Phase 4: Losing it!
